The stage band plays an introductory number.

PETE: Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to the To White Show with Gary Jacobs. Our guests tonight are the Four Seniors (that great singing quartet), composer and arranger Rick Horne, the Senator from the state of Texas Robert Salih, ~~the~~ ~~Italian~~ Italian filmmakers Stefan Mosieroni, Roberto Kane, and Roberto Campbell, songstress Fredna Howard, and stars of Hee Haw Billy Davis and Bob Elinck. But now, here's Gary.

Monologue - during the second and eighth jokes, two short comedy sketches will take place (joke) (how & when)

GARY: We've got a great show for you today, but first a word from the makers of Drive, the enzyme active detergent.

Enzyme commercial.

GARY: We're pleased to have as our first guest a man who has made a name for himself on Capitol Hill...I'm only sorry I can't repeat that name. But anyway, the senator from the state of Texas, Robert Salih.

ROBERT: Well, ~~it~~ it's good to see you two again.

GARY: For those of you who didn't know, the Senator, Pete, and myself all attended W.T. White High School together, right Pete?

PETE: (Pretending to be asleep) Oh, I'm sorry. I must have dozed off. I guess the fast pace of the show got to me.

GARY: Senator, let's talk a little bit about White. What ~~do~~ do you miss most about the old school?

ROBERT: The girls. Boy there were some gorgeous ones, too. But they always were so cold and hateful towards us senior boys. Why do you remember...

Kim Van Kirk's group.

PETE: Yea, those were the days. Do you all remember the awful food they served in the lunchroom?

ROBERT: Why that food was so bad, it gave me indigestion.

GARY: It gave everyone indigestion.

ROBERT: But I just smelled of it.

GARY: Say, do you remember when we staged that protest in the lunchroom?...

Alka Seltzer commercial.

GARY: [Pretending to be asleep] Oh, I'm sorry. Yeah, those were the days. And you know, Senator, you're right about those girls. Do you remember the time they put on those roller skates?....

Roller Skate song.

ROBERT: I see you also remember those good old days. Say, weren't all three of us in Miss Farey's typing class?

PETE: Why you know you're right. But you weren't my type...

Typing Class skit. - spring clean-up walk on after typing skit.

ROBERT: (Pretending to be asleep) I vote no Mr. Chairman. It's a Communist plot. Oh, excuse me gentlemen. But you know when I recall those six happy years I spent at White.

GARY: (interrupting) Six years?

ROBERT: Well, yes. I never could remember to suit about in Trapp's PE class. But anyway, when I think back on those years, it kind of gets me right here.

PETE: Sentimental?

ROBERT: No, heartburn.

~~GARY: We must pause for station identification.~~

~~Spring clean-up commercial.~~

GARY: Now it is my pleasure to be able to present a great singing quartet, the Four Seniors, featuring Paula Lozano, Linda Petty, Randall Smith, and Pat McManemin.

Kuets So Bad.

GARY: We will return after this message.

Milk
Chairman commercial.

~~GARY: Without any further notice, I would like to present a dancing team consisting of Paula Robinson, Cheryl Allison, Nichole Kruming, Linda Bush, and Debra Coffey.~~

~~Howl-Howl~~

GARY: It's a real pleasure to present our next guest. She is an extremely talented young singer, as you will soon find out. Miss Fredna Howati.

People.

GARY: She really sing's well. It just does something to me to hear someone sing like that. How about you, Pete?

PETE: Well, it gives me goosebumps all over my body.

GARY: We'll be right back after a word from the makers of Post Raisin Bran.

Raisin Bran Commercial.

GARY: You know, one of the hardest things a person can do is to make a musical arrangement of a song. Isn't that right Pete?

PETE: DOUBLE TALK

GARY: I couldn't have said it better myself. That is why we are pleased to have as our next guest, a young man who has made just an excellent arrangement of the song "Beginnings," by CTA. So, here's the very talented Rick Horne.

Beginnings.

GARY: Just great. Say, Pete, have you ever seen Hee Haw?

PETE: I sure have.

GARY: Well, that's unfortunate, but nevertheless we have two of the big stars from that atrocity, I mean show. So, here's Billy and Bob.

Hee Haw.

GARY: Eat you heart out Beatles. Our last guests tonight are those famous Italian moviemakers, who are about to release their new movie, Bob&Pete&Steve&Bob. So, would you please welcome Senores Stefan Mosleroni, Roberto Kane, and Roberto Campbell. Senore Kane, where were you born?

BOB: I was born in northern Italy.

GARY: How far north?

BOB: Poland.

GARY: Well, I understand that you have a clipping from your new film with you, so if you don't mind, we'll just rollem.

Film.

GARY: Well, that's our show for tonight. I hope you enjoyed it. It's really been fun, hasn't it Pete. (Pete pretends to be asleep). That's just Pete's way of saying it's really been fun. Well, as you all know, it's that time again.

EVERYONE SINGS:

We're so glad we had this time together
Just to have a laugh and sing a song
Seems we just get started and before you know it
Come the time we have to say ~~so long~~ RETURN TO YOUR 2 PERIOD CLASSES.

Curtain.
